CAUSE OF JONESBORO BLAST STILL UNDETERMINED

Lincoln Ellsworth And Hollick-Kenyon Found Alive

Acting Mayor Thinks Gas Cause But Others Voice Opinion Dynamite Used

Worst Damage Caused In Office Of Registrar Of Voters

VICTIM'S BODY FOUND

W. L. Barnes Killed And Three Others Hurt In Explosion

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 17.—(P)—A. C. Holly, acting mayor of Jonesboro, said today that the cause of the terrific explosion which razed the two-story brick courthouse of Jackson parish here at 8:30 o'clock last night with fatal injury to one citizen, was undetermined.

He said there was "nothing to" a report circulated that the building was dynamited in a "political feud," as Jackson parish had had a "quiet campaign" leading up to next Tuesday's Democratic primary and there had been "no feud."

Mr. Holly said "Red" Hanna, a local plumber familiar with the building, reported to him that the explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas from a small gas main which ran into the building.

Some of the citizens expressed the belief that the building was dynamited, but Mr. Holly commented that "there would be no reason for blowing up the courthouse, as that would accomplish nothing."

The blast demolished the building with the exception of the north and the south walls, which were left standing.

W. L. Barnes, 42, an employee of the Federal Savings association of Jonesboro, who was at work on the first floor, was killed, his wife was more or less seriously injured and two or three other persons in the building escaped with minor injuries.

A score of national guardsmen, ordered out by Governor O. K. Allen, were on the scene today salvaging records from the voters' registration office and other courthouse offices.

Barnes was at work on the first floor of the building. Mrs. Barnes was also at work, but on the second floor, and had just been visited by

RUDYARD KIPLING GOES INTO COMA

Blood Transfusion And Oxygen Used In Fight To Save Life

LONDON, Jan. 17.—(P)—Rudyard Kipling's gallant will kept the spark of life still flickering today, but at times at the hospital where he lay in a coma said the end apparently was a matter of hours.

A hospital bulletin at 1:00 p. m. said the 70-year-old bard's condition was "unchanged and still very critical." It was disclosed a blood transfusion from an unnamed donor had been given Kipling during last night, and that oxygen also had been used.

Kipling lapsed into a coma while his American-born wife, daughter and surgeon kept watch at his bedside.

The noted poet and novelist became unconscious at 4:30 a. m., (11:30 p. m. Thursday, eastern standard time), and several hours later, he remained in the comatose state.

The Middlesex hospital, in the private Woolwich wing of which he underwent the operation last Monday for a perforated stomach ulcer, issued a series of dramatic bulletins throughout the night, indicating the author was failing gradually, with an

TEXT OF DEAR'S RESOLUTION FOR PROBE IS GIVEN

Charges Allen And Porterie Afraid Of Investigation

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17.—(P)—The text of the resolution adopted here last night in the Cleveland Dear "Home Rule" rally asking for a congressional investigation of the death of Senator Huey P. Long follows:

"Whereas, it is a mandatory duty of the state of Louisiana and the attorney general of the state to see that the laws of this state are enforced, and

"Whereas, whenever a crime has been committed and the knowledge of same is in the possession of the attorney-general or the governor they are charged with the responsibility of seeing that the crime is investigated and the guilty persons punished, and

"Whereas, Oscar K. Allen, governor of the state of Louisiana, and Gaston Porterie, attorney-general of the state of Louisiana, have been going about the state claiming to have knowledge and information in their possession showing that a conspiracy existed for the killing of Senator Huey P. Long and have failed and neglected and refused to cause the matter to be submitted to the grand jury of the parish where the killing took place, and

"Whereas, the said Oscar Allen has publicly declared that if elected to the United States senate he intended

FARMERS QUIZZED IN PLANE CRASH

Exact Cause Of 'Southerner's' Fate May Remain Unsolved

FORREST CITY, Ark., Jan. 17.—(P)—From seven farmers living near the quagmire into which the palatial airliner "Southerner" plunged last Tuesday night, department of commerce officials today sought to piece out the course followed by the ship during the minutes immediately preceding the crash.

As the governor's public hearing was opened in the St. Francis courthouse here, there was still no tangible clue to the cause of the accident, no answer to what happened between the ship's 7:18 o'clock "all well" message to Memphis and the dive into the swamps, presumably before 7:30 p. m.

Major R. W. Schroeder, chief of the commerce department's airline inspection service, in charge of the hearing, said it was hoped that residents nearest to the crash could give information on their observations of

Only One Left Of Five In Family Recovering

LAUREL, Miss., Jan. 17.—(P)—Little Pauline Barnett, 8, was recovering here today from injuries while the other four members of her family, victims of her father's insane frenzy to wipe them out, lay buried in a country churchyard 12 miles north of here.

A quadruple funeral was held at the Union seminary church in Jasper county yesterday for Morris Barnett, her father; her mother, Edna Ruth, 6, a sister, and James Edward, 5, a brother.

Barnett, Sheriff Lee Williams of Jasper reported, had beaten his wife with a smothering iron then shot her, crushed the skulls of his son and two daughters with the iron and then shot himself. Pauline regained consciousness more than 12 hours later, dressed her wounds and went running for help.

Thief Enters Lindbergh's Wales Home

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 17.—(P)—The grounds of the home of J. Llewellyn Morgan were entered on the eve of the arrival of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his family, it was learned today, and a number of articles were stolen.

The incident was investigated today by detectives, who have been at the house almost daily.

Among the missing articles were a new sporting gun, a number of cartridges and garden implements. Colonel Lindbergh, who came here with his wife and second son soon after their arrival in England December 31, in search of seclusion, spent this morning playing in the Morgan garden with three-year-old Jon.

The boy sometimes plays alone, but every corner of his five-acre estate may be watched from windows of the house, police watch the estate with increased vigilance.

ROOSEVELT SEES NEW FARM PLAN TO REPLACE AAA

Chief Executive Discusses Problem At Press Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(P)—Confidence that the new farm plan proposed under soil erosion and conservation laws would carry out the purposes of the dead AAA and bring about what he considers a well rounded agricultural development of the nation was expressed today by President Roosevelt.

The chief executive discussed the agricultural problem at his press conference, after stipulating that he was not replying to the farm address last night by former President Herbert Hoover. He explained he had not had an opportunity yet to read the Hoover speech.

There was an intimation that new taxes might be necessary to meet the program as a substitute for the old processing levies killed by the supreme court. The president said, however, he was not ready to discuss the subject.

Mr. Roosevelt said slight amendments to the existing soil erosion and conservation acts will be necessary. He reserved any estimate on the amount of money which would be required by the government to lease land from farmers under the proposed plan.

Some congressional leaders who attended yesterday's White House farm conference had mentioned $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 as necessary for carrying out the program in 1936.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that soil erosion constitutes not only the actual washing away of soil into river beds but also loss of chemicals in the soil resulting from continued use for the same crop.

Asked if this interpretation did not bring every farm of the country un-

Seats Sold Out For Liberty League Dinner

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(P)—With the $50-a-plate Jackson day dinner of the Democrats still a vivid memory, the American Liberty league announced today it has turned away 4,000 persons who want to attend its feast here January 25.

The league's publicity department reported that the 2,000 available seats were taken weeks ago, but that applications continue at the rate of 700 a day. By coincidence the Liberty leaguers will hold their dinner in the same hotel ballroom where more than 2,000 New Dealers gathered recently to eat and hear President Roosevelt.

IMPEACHMENT OF HOFFMAN SOUGHT AFTER REPRIEVE

State Gazette Says Governor Should Be Thrown Out

BRUNO'S HOPE SCANT

Only Chance Is Uncovering Of New And Vital Evidence

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 17.—(P)—Dr. John F. Condon informed Attorney General David T. Wilentz today that he would return immediately from the Panama Canal zone if Wilentz desired. Wilentz replied that there was no need for Condon to change his plans.

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 17.—Bruno Hauptmann's 30-day reprieve spurred a defense search today for new evidence and raised the possibility Gov. Harold G. Hoffman might question Dr. John F. Condon about his oft-told story of the Lindbergh ransom negotiations.

The governor, who dramatically stayed Hauptmann's electrocution 29 hours before the scheduled time, has expressed a desire to interrogate "Jafsie" on purported discrepancies between his court testimony and a series of articles on the crime.

The reprieve period and the additional four to eight weeks required by legal processes would make it possible for Dr. Condon to return here before the new date for Hauptmann's electrocution.

The governor, who has interested himself in the case since his visit to Hauptmann's cell last October, divulged no details of his plans. "What I will do during the next 30 days even I don't know," he said.

Statement Unchanged
He did not amplify his declaration that the reprieve was motivated by "divers reason which I do not care to disclose at this time."

"I just had to do it," he said in New York last night. "It was one of those things that I had to do and I did it."

Hauptmann's legal forces, headed by C. Lloyd Fisher, had not found an opportunity to confer on new methods to save the prisoner, for whom a third execution date will be set by Justice Thomas W. Trenchard

TELLER AT BANK GIVEN SENTENCE

Suspension Allowed John Joseph Coppenex Of Baton Rouge

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17.—(P)—John Joseph Coppenex, 41-year-old former note teller of the City National bank of Baton Rouge, today was given a suspended sentence of 12 months by Judge Halsted L. Ritter in the United States district court here, after he had pleaded guilty to embezzling $1,658.55 of the bank's funds.

In suspending sentence Judge Ritter took into consideration the contents of several letters from influential residents of Baton Rouge, in which the writers, asking for clemency for Coppenex, recited circumstances under which the bank teller found himself.

"A man is indeed fortunate who has substantial friends when he is in trouble," Judge Ritter told the accused.

The evidence showed that Coppenex had eight children, one of whom died recently. He also had his mother-in-law and other members of the family to support, bringing the number dependent upon him to 13.

"I first took small sums to stave off my creditors," Coppenex said. "Then when I still found myself in heavy debt I took other sums. I had intended putting that money back, but debts became heavier until I was swamped. Then I went to the president of the bank and told him all."

FLIERS MISSING 7 WEEKS SAFE IN LITTLE AMERICA

Seven-Word Message From Discovery II Brings News

HOPE LOST BY FAMILY

Officials Delighted That Determined Search Rewarded

By Frank H. King

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Lincoln Ellsworth and Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, missing since they started a daring Antarctic flight November 23, have been found alive and well in the frozen wastes of Little America, the British colonial office announced today.

Eighteen hours after a partly garbled message was received from the rescue ship Discovery II, indicating the two fliers had been found, the colonial office and the committee in charge of the rescue expedition received a second message, definitely saying the two men had been located.

A laconic, seven-word message from the master of the Discovery II ended seven weeks of anxiety for the safety of Ellsworth and his co-pilot, Hollick-Kenyon.

The message said simply: "Ellsworth and Kenyon are both alive and well."

Family Lost Hope
Members of Hollick-Kenyon's family in London have given up hope two weeks ago for his rescue.

His aunt, Mrs. H. V. Kenyon, wife of the mayor of Paddington, said, "We thought six weeks was the limit."

NINE GUILTY IN FRANCE'S GREAT STAVISKY FRAUD

Widow Of Former Master Swindler Among Eleven Acquitted

PARIS, Jan. 17.—(P)—France's great Stavisky scandal closed today with conviction of only nine of the 20 defendants accused of complicity in the swindles which resulted in rioting in the streets of Paris and overthrow of a French cabinet.

Mme. Arlette Simon Stavisky, widow of the swindler, and ten others of the 20 defendants were acquitted of charges of complicity in the $10,000,000 fraud.

"Extenuating circumstances" were found in the cases of all those convicted except Gustave Tissier, manager of the Bayonne Municipal pawnshop. His confession broke the case and sent Stavisky fleeing to the mountains where he died of a pistol wound described by police as self-inflicted.

The others convicted were: Joseph Garat, a member of the chamber of deputies and former mayor of Bayonne, where Stavisky established his municipal pawnshop; Henri Cohen, an actor who often played the role of a millionaire on the stage and whom the prosecution charged Stavisky hired to play the same role in real life.

Gen. Joseph Bardi De Fourt, charged with lending his name to Stavisky's swindle, an actor who often played the role of a millionaire on the stage and whom the prosecution charged Stavisky hired to play the same role in real life.

Madame Stavisky Smiles
Madame Stavisky, a former mannequin, dressed quietly but smartly in black, smiled broadly for the first time since the tragedy began, bringing with it one of the longest trials in France.

Dear Resolution Asking Federal Investigation Adopted In New Orleans

Home Rule Leader Says Charge Of Conspiracy To Kill Long Is 'Vilest Slander' And That Allen Is Afraid To Press For Inquiry Into Assassination In State

PROPOSAL SECONDED BY CONGRESSMAN SANDLIN

Bodyguards Of Slain Dictator Assert Allegations That One Of Them Is Insane Are Untrue And Issue Statement Signed By Six Men Present When Late Senator Was Shot

(By Staff Correspondent)

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17.—A resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the circumstances leading up to the slaying of Huey P. Long last September, as well as the slaying itself, was unanimously adopted at a mass meeting of voters in the thirteenth ward held last night.

The resolution was submitted by Congressman Cleveland Dear, candidate for governor on the Home Rule ticket, and was seconded by Congressman John N. Sandlin, candidate for United States senator.

Congressman Dear, in proposing the resolution, said that "every effort had been made to have Governor O. K. Allen and other officials of the machine administration to arrest and prosecute the persons the governor has charged with participating in a plot to murder the late senator."

Dear described the charges as the "vilest slander," and declared the "governor is afraid to attempt any proof of his charges, because he knows they are absolutely false."

"Those of us who have been slandered by these candidates of the state machine," he said, "have invited an investigation in any court, but nothing has been done. The governor has complete power to hold an investigation, but instead he has declared he is going to ask the United States senate to make the inquiry that is his duty and responsibility. Well, we will not wait for Governor Allen to lay the matter before the United States senate. We will ask the national senate and house of representatives immediately to begin the investigation that Governor Allen refuses to make. Governor Allen's statement that he wants the senate to take up the inquiry is pure bluff and a cowardly evasion of the issue. If he were sincere in his vile assertions he would long ago have ordered the arrest of any person who he says had anything to do with the 'plot' which every intelligent person in this state knows to be an utter fake."

"Governor Allen has the power to make such an investigation," he declared, "and the fact that he persists in making wild charges without a semblance of action to support those charges is proof convincing that he is not only insincere but is merely talking for political effect. I have the utmost contempt for any man who uses the tragic death of another to further his own political schemes. None but a man devoid of the simplest sense of decency would stoop so low."

HEAVY MAJORITY IN SENATE FOR BONUS FORESEEN

Backers Will Push For Vote On Question Today Or Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—(P)—Jubilantly declaring that they had the votes of four out of every five senators, backers of the bill to pay the soldiers' bonus immediately in cashable baby bonds drove it into senate debate today with the idea of passing it today or tomorrow.

Administration leaders in the chamber were pressing for passage before the week-end adjournment, contending that the giant issue—agitated for 16 years—should be disposed of quickly.

Despite implied warnings of new taxes to come and Secretary Morgenthau's statement that enactment would be "a relief to the nation," the bill was passed by a vote of 77 to 19.

Labor Will Fill Seat Vacated By John Lewis

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 17.—(P)—The seat John L. Lewis, lusty miners' leader, resigned last fall because he was "tired of looking out the window" will be filled at today's meeting of the American Federation of Labor's executive council.

Election of Lewis' successor, which President William Green placed first on the day's program, was believed certain to revive the issue which so often had Lewis at loggerheads with other council members—industrial unionism versus craft unionism.

David Dubinsky, head of the ladies' garment workers' union, and the only industrial unionist on the council, was expected to oppose election of any craft unionist to replace Lewis. He was outnumbered 15 to 1, however.

Also set for final decision was the question of the American Federation of Labor's 1936 convention site.

ITALIANS CLAIM 4,000 OF ENEMY SLAIN IN BATTLE

Badoglio Claims Ethiopians Fleeing, Pursued By Fascists

(By Associated Press)

The Fascist command in Africa today claimed the slaughter of 4,000 Ethiopians in a great battle on the southern front, but official Ethiopian sources ridiculed the claims.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio, the Italian commander-in-chief in Ethiopia, announced the southern engagement had ended in "complete victory" and that the troops of Ras Desta Deltu were fleeing along caravan routes to the northwest, pursued by Italians.

In some sections, Badoglio reported, Italian armored cars advanced 75 miles from their bases. Italian losses were slight, he said, and many prisoners were captured.

In Addis Ababa, however, Ethiopian officials said a major engagement in the area was impossible, because of the scattered positions of Ras Desta's army.

An Italian warplane and its crew of four which made a forced landing inside the Sudan frontier have been interned under neutrality regulations, the British foreign office announced in London. The Italian government was notified.

Italy, taking its turn at protesting to Geneva, complained of Ethiopian "atrocities" and abuse of the Red Cross emblem in a note to the League of Nations.

Nearly 3,000 British troops arrived in Alexandria, Egypt, and were reported unofficially to be en route to the strategic Mersa Matruh base. There were rumors the three battalions were moved to Egypt as a precaution against possible trouble on the borders of Libya, Italy's north African colony.

BODYGUARDS DENY THEY KILLED LONG

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17.—(P)—Who killed Senator Huey P. Long? The six bodyguards who were with him last September 8 when he was fatally wounded paid for a full page newspaper advertisement today to brand as a "palpable fake" a charge that one of them shot the senator.

The advertisement was in answer to the assertion of Congressman Cleveland Dear, anti-administration candidate for governor in next Tuesday's Democratic primary, that one of the "chief bodyguards" was "now in an asylum for the insane and I am informed that he constantly cries, 'I killed my best friend.'"

At the time of Long's death all reports were to the effect that Long was fatally wounded by Dr. Carl Austin Weiss, Baton Rouge physician, who was instantly riddled with bullets by bodyguards and killed. The bodyguards testified at a coroner's inquest that Weiss fired the fatal bullet.

"Dr. Weiss' father recently issued a public statement in which he said that Long was killed as a result of a 'personal difficulty' and that 'in all probability' he was wounded by one of his own bodyguards."

Plot Often Charged
Followers of Long, seeking nomination in next Tuesday's primary, have continually charged from the stump that Long's enemies gathered at a New Orleans hotel to plot his death

Seymour Weiss Counsel Files Abatement Plea

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17.—(P)—Counsel for Seymour Weiss, a colonel on the staff of Governor O. K. Allen, have filed a plea in abatement in federal district court here in an attempt to terminate charges against him and three others of conspiracy to evade income tax payments.

The other three men indicted with Weiss were: Chauncey D. Nichols and R. S. Wilson, Sr., former officers of the Louisiana Quarry company, and H. Schiff, an accountant who was said to have prepared the income tax return for the company.

SCIENCE AWARDS TO NEVILLE HIGH

Local School Will Give Medals To Outstanding Students

Neville High school has been honored by being selected to receive two honorary science awards given by a noted optical company in New York. They will be presented to the boy and girl who make the most advancement in the study of science. To be eligible, the students must have had three years of science study and winners will be selected by the faculty.

The medals, which are intended as scholastic incentives to students pursuing science courses, are of light bronze and are engraved with figures that symbolize science and achievement.

The aim of the donors is to foster in the student a spirit of scientific investigation at a time in life when it will improve habits of thought and character.

The presentation will be made to the students who, in the opinion of the faculty, have demonstrated the greatest capacity for scientific study during at least three years of the high school course. At least three science subjects must have been pursued.

The plan of the award has been approved by many prominent educators in the country and more than 200 of the larger high schools are enrolled among those that are to be permitted to make awards.

Blanchard Named Vice Supervisor In Ward 10

C. C. Blanchard has been named deputy supervisor in ward 10, precinct 3, to take the place of E. T. Ebert, who had been previously named but was unable to act, according to Miss Lillian Collins, registrar of voters and member of the local election board.

Miss Collins said the operation of the new election law and the change of voting places in the city and parish has caused much work for her office and the election board, but that they are endeavoring to aid in every possible manner in the conducting of the primary on next Tuesday. She said that she and her staff will be in the office at the courthouse from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday to assist in any manner and to inform the voters who are not sure as to the place where they are to cast their ballots.

As now constituted there are 44 voting precincts in Ouachita parish, which is far more than formerly.

700 YOUNG PEOPLE OF PARISH ANSWER VOCATION QUERIES

In connection with the youth vocation program Thursday at Hotel Virginia, Rotarians were given the names of boys and girls who have answered the questionnaire prepared by the vocational training committee, and asked by Dr. Charles E. Kenney, chairman, to contact them and assist in helping them to determine their vocations.

Dr. Kenney told the members that over 700 young people in the parish had replied to the questionnaire, and that this was a challenge to the club to do a really worthwhile piece of work.

In connection with this program, W. E. Reardon was the principal speaker at the meeting.

Clarence Oakley, who presided at the meeting, announced that Commissioner of Agriculture Harry D. Wilson will be the principal speaker at the meeting next week, and stated that the club would invite at least 25 prominent planters in the parish to attend as the guests of individual members.

Mrs. Zelma Polly, of Waco, Texas, former Chautauqua reader, was the guest of the club and entertained the members with two humorous readings.

GAS IS BLAMED BY ACTING MAYOR

her husband, who was on his way back to the first floor when the explosion occurred.

Body Found At 5:30 A. M.
The body of Barnes was not recovered until 5:30 this morning, after Capt. S. A. Hall and 40 men from the CCC camp nearby had worked for several hours removing the debris. Tractors were brought from the camp to aid in pulling the heavy timbers away, and at 4:30 the crushed body was located. An hour later it was removed.

Authorities at first differed as to the probable cause of the explosion. Some thought an accumulation of gas was responsible. Others believed the blast was caused by dynamite. Apparently the actual spot at which it occurred was near the office of the registrar of voters, as it was in this part of the building the greatest damage was done.

The body of Barnes was found near the spot occupied by the parish assessor's office. It was covered by debris, which had to be moved. Capt. Hall and his men began work shortly after the explosion occurred, and at 2:30 this morning a call was sent to Ruston for the national guard.

Barnes, until 2 years ago, a deputy sheriff of Jackson parish, and since that time a bookkeeper for the local building and loan association, is survived by his widow, who was reported resting comfortably at the clinic at Hodge, two miles away.

Guards On Duty
Twenty national guardsmen, under command of Capt. W. E. McBride, of Ruston, district attorney in the districts including Lincoln and Jackson parishes, were placed on duty around the wrecked building.

Agents of the state bureau of criminal identification were at work investigating the blast and it was stated unofficially that a federal investigation would also be conducted.

Mrs. Barnes, assistant home demonstration agent, who was in her office on the second floor, suffered a gash in the head and possible internal injuries.

Aubrey Shows, 35, abstract clerk, was blown from the parish clerk's office into the street and rendered temporarily unconscious but he was not believed seriously hurt. Minor injury was suffered by P. Z. Boyd, 24, who was working in the farm agent's office.

J. A. Whittemore, 43, an engineer, said he was in the basement vault looking up information on oil leases when the explosion occurred. He said he was hurled 20 feet after seeing a "red flash" and hearing a thunderous explosion.

The blast shook the entire town like a miniature earthquake and brought sudden alarm to the 2,000 residents. Sounded Like Bomb Sheriff Neil Thomas said "it sounded like a bomb." He said he "did not know" whether the building had been deliberately blown up.

There was considerable apprehension in political circles over the fate of registration records and ballots for use in the Democratic primary election set for next Tuesday in which congressional, state and local officials will be named.

The explosion was apparently centered in the office of Sheriff Thomas. Practically all offices were demolished. The roof was caved in. The front of the building was blasted out.

Windows in the jail and other buildings nearby were shattered.

H. M. Gatlin, automobile dealer, said he was standing in front of the courthouse when it went "sky high." "I am firmly convinced that it was a bomb explosion," he said.

Elmer Cox, hardware merchant, who was nearby, said he believed accumulated gas caused the explosion.

It was pointed out that the only gas intake in the building was a two-inch pipe with a two-ounce pressure which led to the boiler room, situated at about the center of the structure. The explosion, however, apparently occurred at the southeast corner of the building.

The courthouse, which was erected in 1909, was valued at about $130,000.

EXTENT OF DAMAGE TO RECORDS UNKNOWN

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The secretary of state's office was today informed by John M. Shows, Jackson parish registrar of voters, that extent of damage to election records in the explosion demolishing the courthouse at Jonesboro could not be determined until more wreckage was removed.

Shows told H. C. Comish, assistant secretary of state, he would make a report on the election situation as soon as possible and was informed that the state department was ready to do all in its power to facilitate a voting as planned in the state primary Tuesday.

Comish said any destroyed ballots could be replaced in time for the election.

Gov. O. K. Allen said he had no theory about the explosion and had received no report regarding it.

RECORDS ARE BEING TAKEN FROM DEBRIS

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 17.—(Special)—Records in the Jackson parish courthouse were being recovered Friday from debris of the building, which was wrecked by a terrific explosion Thursday night. Up to noon, the records which had been recovered were found intact.

Trucks of a CCC camp near here were being used to carry the records to various locations for safe keeping. Records from the office of the parish superintendent of education were carried to the parish grammar school building.

The records from the clerk of court's office were being placed in a vault in the Jackson parish bank. The registrar of voters' files also were being stored there.

A building formerly used by the local American Legion post was placed in use as a storeroom for records from the sheriff's office.

A place for storing records of the police jury proceedings had not been selected.

FUNERAL PLANS FOR BARNES NOT COMPLETE

JONESBORO, La., Jan. 17.—(Special)—Funeral services for W. L. Barnes, 42, who died in the wreckage of the Jackson parish courthouse when it was wrecked by an explosion Thursday night, had not been completed.

Barnes, a World war veteran, is survived by the following relatives, all of whom reside here: His widow; two daughters, Judith, 13, and Betty, 9; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Barnes; two brothers, J. P. and Hardy Barnes; three sisters, Mrs. B. C. Luzader, Mrs. S. J. Autry and Mrs. G. E. Woods.

REQUEST FOR WPA LABOR IS RECEIVED

A request from Jonesboro for WPA labor to assist in removing debris of the Jackson parish courthouse, which was wrecked by an explosion Thursday night, was received here Friday morning by Albin P. Lassiter, fifth district director of the WPA. Mr. Lassiter assigned about 100 men to the work at Jonesboro. Lloyd Frost, district WPA engineer, was placed in charge of the men.

and that the lot of killer fell to Dr. Weiss.

A resolution calling for a congressional investigation to fix responsibility for the killing was adopted at a political rally of Congressman Dear here last night.

Dear described as the "vilest slander" the administration charges that Long's enemies had plotted his death. "Those of us who have been slandered by these candidates of the state machine have invited an investigation in any court, but nothing has been done," Dear said.

Bodyguards Named
The bodyguards who signed the advertisement were Joe Messina, Long's favorite bodyguard, Murphy Roden, George McQuiston, E. D. Coleman, Paul Votier and Louis O. Heard.

Meanwhile, the political battle for the empire left by Long neared a climax in voting Tuesday. Nominations in the primary is equivalent to election in Democratic Louisiana.

Judge Richard Leche is the Long candidate for governor and Allen Elender, speaker of the state house of representatives, is the Long candidate for the senate.

Congressman John Sandlin is the anti-Long candidate for the senate. Anti-administrations have charged that Governor O. K. Allen, candidate for the unexpired term of Long, will "steal" the election through his controlled polling officials. The governor has issued vigorous denial.

A congressional committee is investigating the state's election machinery and several parishes have asked for federal marshals at the polls to insure a fair count of votes.

The congressional committee as well as state bodies are investigating charges of widespread illegal registrations of voters.

Death of all on board, and the absence of valuable technical evidence, some of it destroyed in the annihilation of the ship, some sunk beyond recovery in the marsh, some carried away by souvenir hunters, prompted a general feeling that exact answers to the many questions the government wanted answered would never be obtained.

HOG STEALER CAUGHT

Sammy Davis, negro, was placed in custody of police Thursday night by L. P. Osterland, operator of a dairy on the Sterling road, after Osterland allegedly caught the negro making away with a hog belonging to the dairy operator. Osterland was reported to have caught the negro with the hog in an automobile near the former's property. Another negro implicated in the theft was said to have escaped. The Davis negro was transferred to the parish jail.

"Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the senate and the house of representatives of the United States congress and be published to the world."

PORTERIE HOPES FOR AN "INVESTIGATION"

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Attorney-General Gaston L. Porterie today wrote Congressman Cleveland Dear, anti-administration candidate for governor, he was "waiting and hoping for a prosecution" in connection with the fatal shooting of the late Senator Huey P. Long when "the people have cleaned out the court-house ring at Baton Rouge."

The communication to Dear was made public at the offices of the attorney-general, who is ill at his home. Porterie is a candidate for reelection on the state administration ticket.

The letter followed assertion by Dear that charges of administrationists that Long was shot as result of a "plot" were "ridiculous."

Dear said the administrationists had been "challenged to make arrests or justify the charges" and that they "dared not to do so or make an investigation for they know it is false."

Porterie said in his letter that Long was "murdered in East Baton Rouge parish" and that "grand and petit juries in East Baton Rouge parish were notoriously controlled by the most violent and rabid anti-Long faction in the state."

"Sit still, do not rush anything," the attorney-general wrote Dear, "it will be hot enough in time."

increase the treasury's borrowing and refunding operations to $11,300,000,000 in the next 17 1-2 months, coalition supporters of the bill forecast a top-heavy vote for it.

The eventual cost of the government of the immediate expense range upward from $1,000,000,000—depending on how many of the bonds are cashed immediately.

Democratic leaders expect the house promptly to accept the senate measure in place of the bill it passed a week ago providing for immediate cash payment, but leaving to the treasury how to pay it.

The leaders, in predicting quick passage, are silent about President Roosevelt's position. He vetoed the inflationary Patman bonus bill last session.

The senate bill provides for full payment of the 1945 maturity value of the bonus certificates in blocks of $50 bonds. The bonds would be cashable beginning next June 15 at local postoffices. The veterans would have the option of holding them for three per cent interest for nine years.

We had no news and feared the worst. "Only a few days ago, my husband wrote Herbert's mother in Canada, condoling her for the loss of her son."

Delighted at the news that the men were found Admiral Sir William Goodenough, former president of the Royal Geographical society, asserted: "That shows what enterprise can do when carried out with forethought."

Pointing out that it was often difficult to communicate by wireless from the south polar regions because of atmospheric conditions, Sir William commented on the meager news:

"The whole world will rejoice to know that these two brave men have come through safely."

First word that Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon, objects of an intensive search, might at last have been found came with receipt of a message yesterday from the Discovery II that it had sighted an airplane and a man on the bay of Whales.

Neither the airplane nor the man, however, were then identified.

Message Garbled

A colonial office official last night said it could only be presumed that the man must be either Ellsworth or Hollick-Kenyon, since "no other persons are known to be in that vicinity" of Little America.

One word of that first wireless message from the captain of the Discovery II—the vessel pressed into the search for the missing men by the British and Australian governments—could not be deciphered and a repetition was asked.

That would take 12 hours or more. The Discovery committee, announcing the first word of the missing men, said in a statement:

"A message has been received by the Discovery committee from the master of the Discovery II reporting that the boat arrived safely at the Bay of Whales at 10:00 p. m. Jan. 15. The message indicates one man was sighted from a plane and also a machine at Little America."

The colonial office then issued this statement today:

"A further message has just been received from the master of the Discovery, reporting Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon are both alive and well." "The Australian minister of defense announced at Sydney, New South Wales, receipt of another message from the master of the Discovery II, saying efforts would be made to take aboard a man sighted near Little America.

Lost November 23
The explorers, Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon, were last heard from November 23 when they started their hazardous airplane flight across Antarctica from Dundee Island to the Ross sea.

Dundee Island is 600 miles south of Cape Horn, southernmost tip of South America, and the Ross sea is south of New Zealand.

Although some dispaired for their safety as long days passed with no further word after their takeoff, experienced explorers contended that they might have been unreported simply because they were out of wireless range.

The British and Australian governments finally launched their rescue expedition Jan. 1, the Discovery II sailing from Dunedin, N. Z., bearing stores of supplies and two airplanes, designed to make searching flights if the ship could not locate the men.

Another rescue vessel, the Wyatt Earp, son of the Ellsworth expedition, was en route to Little America under the command of Sir Hubert Wilkins to join the search.

The Wyatt Earp bore a plane flown from the United States to South America by Dick Merrill, and equipped with skis and pontoons also to undertake searching flights.

The temperature on Neptune is estimated to be about 400 degrees below zero.

WHISKEY PRICES RUBBED HIM THE WRONG WAY

C. L. Vreeland, 5120 Locust Street, Philadelphia, has good news for thrifty folk.

"I think I'm as good a judge of whiskey value as the next man," writes Mr. Vreeland. "And it sure rubbed me the wrong way to pay today's fancy prices for the kind of whiskey I enjoy and like to serve in my home. I'd probably have gone right on doing it if a friend hadn't told me about Old Drum. That sure was a happy day for me. Old Drum showed me that at last I could get old time whiskey at an old time price. Whenever any of my friends complain about whiskey prices, I tell them about Old Drum."

Lakeside Country Club Thronged Ladies' Day

First Luncheon-Bridge Affair For New Year
Attracts Sixty Or More Women; Several Members Hostesses

The lounge of Lakeside Country club was thronged with beautifully gowned women Wednesday, when the first luncheon-bridge affair of the new year attracted sixty or more feminine members.

Luncheon was served at long tables in the dining room, florally adorned with low, flaring bowls of spring flowers. The presence of Mrs. Bernard Bledenharn and Mrs. William Quiggles, entertainment hostesses, added a hospitable note.

Several members were hostesses on this occasion, entertaining at luncheon and bridge, the largest group being that of Mrs. Walter J. Meyer, who had two tables of guests. She presented individual gifts for bridge in addition to the regular club trophies presented each table of players.

Ladies' day at Lakeside club also features a golf tournament with four-somes teeing off at 9:30 in the morning. Mrs. Travis Oliver was appointed golf chairman at the Wednesday meeting.

Noted among the members luncheon and remaining for bridge were Meses. R. L. Carr, Russell Bailey, Gladys Sperry, E. S. Girault, George Weeks, A. M. McHenry, A. V. Miller, R. L. McHenry, H. H. Reardon, J. Voorhoff, E. Elbert, E. W. Cruse, L. E. Ducote, J. P. Brown, W. L. Bendel, G. H. Neighbors, J. F. Prendegast, Walter Kellogg, Hattie Strauss, J. E. Bryan, Alan Black, Harry Murdoch, J. M. Menefee, B. U. Hood, W. J. Moore, George Lester, G. R. Petty, R. M. Ivy, Roberta Hope, William Quiggles, E. F. Windes, Milling Bernstein, Vernon Maish, A. J. Dryburgh, T. J. Sandridge, Blanche Grannary, C. C. Harrison, Joseph Washburn, Thomas Sholars, Travis Oliver, Frank Farmer, Henry Guerriero, W. J. Meyer, J. E. Godfrey, C. B. White, C. C. Boardman, Frederick Millsaps, Henry Bledenharn, C. W. Wallace, Carl McHenry, A. K. Kilpatrick, John Gordon, F. H. Lerch, Bernard Bledenharn and others.

Luncheon in the home of Mrs. Francis Barringer brought members of her contract club together in delightful manner Thursday afternoon at one o'clock.

Beautiful spring flowers graced the perfectly appointed table for the serving of the delicious three-course luncheon. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to contract, resulting in Mrs. T. O. Bancroft's capturing the trophy.

Present were: Mrs. T. O. Bancroft, Mrs. E. T. Lemkin, Mrs. R. L. Davis, Mrs. D. Y. Smith, Mrs. Jack Rogers, Mrs. C. Duncan and Mrs. J. F. Rogers, of Seattle, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cox of Jackson, La., will spend the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fagan Cox and Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Poag.

Hunting for prints or printed daytime dresses that can be worn immediately is a favorite shopping recreation right now! If you shop you will discover a grand new collection of dresses that are new and definitely different. Small patterns and starting and refreshing color contrasts make them real finds.

Every one who craves blue and green get-togethers is going to cheer for this collection, for some of the best looking blue and green prints of the season are to be found in both one and two-piece models.

There is one print of tiny twin green leaves spaced widely against navy blue. As for new patterns, look for the number "six" outfit, made of rustling silk paper taffeta in two pieces. The background color is wine red and white stripes are scattered all over it. The skirt is fine pleated and the long tunic blouse top is plain but made with a dashing flare to the long peplum of the top. Another numerical maze is in a print covered with 1936 in varying colors against a dark background.

Another unusual model is of dull red with tiny three-leaf clovers in chartreuse green. The outfit is pleated from shoulder seam to hem-line. The sleeves are short, a new venture for in-between season clothes.

Two-piece ensembles with a plain one color skirt have little fitted jackets of print to match the short sleeved top of the plain skirt. There is a clever black and emerald green duet, featuring a dark skirt, a splash of green and black printed silk top and the ruffled long sleeved outer jacket.

And unless you are completely immune to what's high fashion, don't buy a new dress unless it boasts pleats and plenty of them. Printed and pleated, the newest and smartest of daytime clothes are just what you need for a winter wardrobe that has lost its freshness.

The Student Musicians were delightedly entertained in the home of Miss Elizabeth Greene, where the following program was presented.

Questions, Ella Rose Crawford; paper, Beatrice Rhymes; vocal solo, "My Mother Bids me Bind My Hair" (Haydn), Elizabeth Greene; piano solo, "Moonlight Sonata" (Beethoven), Lydia Nichols; violin solo, "Trommerlei" (Schumann), Mary Benoit.

The following members were present: Mary Benoit, Eleanor Bennett, Jo Combs, Ella Rose Crawford, Margaret Fuller, Elizabeth Greene, Marie Dell Horuff, Lydia Nichols, Thelma Oseland, Evelyn Roll, Beatrice Rhymes, Helen H. Vawter, and Chester de Cuir.

The Natchez Garden club will sponsor the fifth annual Pilgrimage for a period of ten days this year, instead of a week as heretofore, because of the growing interest in the event. It will be opened Friday, March 27, by Governor Hugh White and his official staff of more than a hundred colonels and will continue through Sunday, April 5.

Many notables are expected to attend. The club is inviting Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt through former Mississippi residents prominent in the social and political life in Washington.

Many interesting places not open heretofore will be listed. Among them will be the restored Spanish tavern on Ellicott's hill, where Major Guion had his headquarters when he raised the flag of the United States over Mississippi territory in 1797. After it had been ceded by Spain, Ellicott's hill is named in honor of Andrew Ellicott, the surveyor, sent by the American government to mark the boundary line of the territory. It was in the ancient town on Ellicott's hill that Aaron Burr plotted with Blennerhassett to establish an empire in Mexico.

Ellicott's Hill is a symbol of the objective of the Natchez Pilgrimage—to develop interest in the restoration and preservation of historic places in Natchez that are associated with epochal events of the nation.

MORNING STAR

Chapter 43
BIG NEWS

JUDITH burst precipitately into Emily's room at seven o'clock on a February morning. Her hair was on end and her dressing gown waved behind her.

"I can't stand it any longer or I'll explode like a steam boiler!" Emily blinked and sat up in sudden alarm. She was accustomed to Judith's effervescence but this was different; this was Vesuvius in eruption. She thought wildly of Frances and Jeffrey, then of Aubrey and Davey.

"Judith, is it—?" Judith made a flying leap and landed in the middle of the great walnut bed.

"I was going to keep it for a surprise, but the pressure's gotten too dangerous. David's coming home!" David. She sat very still for a moment, then she forced herself to whisper:

"When?" "This afternoon. The wire just came. He's landing this morning and flying to Montgomery." She flung her arms wide. "Isn't it the sweetest thing you ever heard of?"

In spite of the turmoil of her thoughts Emily laughed. "It's the grandest thing I ever heard of. Jude, darling, I'm as thrilled for you as you are for yourself."

Judith sat up. "How about being a little thrilled on your own account?"

"Because I don't figure in it." She eyed Judith in sudden terror. "Did you tell him I was here?"

Judith shook her head. "That was another of my surprises."

She sighed with relief. "Thank heaven for that!"

"Why?" "Because I'm going home."

Judith stared at her in consternation. "You're doing nothing of the sort! Why do you think all this was engineered?"

"But don't you see," she spread her hands in a hopeless little gesture, "that being here now would be nothing on earth but throwing myself at him?"

"It wouldn't." Judith's voice was rough with conviction. "David knows you too well, even now, ever to think that. And if you think that David would marry anybody on earth from a sense of duty you're all wet. He's too much of a Carroll for that; they don't know the meaning of the word. Now will you stay here and take your chances, or will you run like a scared rabbit?"

Emily's eyes were on the coverlet. "I'll stay."

Judith flung both arms about her neck. "I knew you would! Now hurry and get dressed; we've got things to do."

MERCIFULLY, the plane was on time, or Judith would have demoralized the entire airport. She pushed past a uniformed official, was snatched by a greasy mechanic from a horrible death in the propeller and flung herself upon the first male passenger who descended, knowing instinctively that David would be the first man to alight.

In the car David found the tonneau light and switched it on. "I want a good look at you," he explained as the car moved away.

They were holding hands unashamedly now; still smiling a little tremulously at each other. Judith said tragically:

"You look like—Zeus or somebody, but I'm sure I've aged terribly!"

"Terribly," David agreed gravely, and they both burst out laughing.

She looked about the car for something to hurl and David said persuasively, "Not on my first day at home, please. Sit back and tell me about Aubrey and my nephew."

She leaned back and he put an arm about her shoulders. For half an hour she talked steadily.

Aubrey and Davey, who had watched for the headlights as they turned in the driveway, were waiting on the steps. Emily, Judith observed, was not visible. The two men gripped hands, smilingly and almost wordlessly, and Judith caught up her son.

They went inside the house and David stopped for a moment in the hall, in his eyes the expression of a pilgrim returning to a well-remembered shrine. He had known Morton Hall well in the past.

"Oh, Jude," he turned swiftly to her and his voice broke a little. "If you knew what it means to be back!" His eyes swept the living-room with the same hungry glance, as if he had only this moment to imprint its appearance upon his memory forever. Then he smiled at her.

"Quite the chateau, a ren't you?"

One-tenth of the population of Chelsea, suburb of London, is composed of people 65 years of age or more.

"Quite." Her ears attuned to the floor above had heard Emily leave her room and begin to descend the stairs.

From his position near the archway David saw her first, and recognized her instantly. He whirled on Judith, his voice a shaken, angry whisper.

"If this is your idea of a joke, it's damned poor taste!" Judith's heart was singing. She whispered back: "It's not a joke, you idiot! Do you think she'd be here if everything weren't all right?"

THERE was no time for more. Emily was coming in and David had crossed the room to meet her. David took her hands and smiled down at her. "If this isn't a perfect climax to a perfect homecoming." But his voice, Judith noted, was gay and not shaken; was friendly without being intimate. She held her breath, praying that Emily wouldn't betray her.

Emily did not. Her smile was as gay as David's, and her voice as carefully controlled. "I thought I was beyond being surprised by the Carroll's, but I'm not. David, it's wonderful to see you!"

"If I tried to say how good it is to see you I'd be guilty of understatement."

She laughed quietly, and crossed the room to the others. To cover the pause Judith said quickly:

"Why can't we have our cocktails now? Then David can go up and array himself afterwards if he chooses."

David grinned. "I think I can bear it." He handed a glass to Emily and, as Judith re-entered the room, another to her. Then he lifted his own, as Judith had done six weeks before.

"For Auld Lang Syne." Over the rim of his glass his eyes sought Emily's for a second, then passed quickly on to the others.

"And the years ahead!" Judith said quickly.

They drank, almost solemnly, and started as a crash shattered the stillness. Judith had flung her glass against the hearth.

David startled and unmovable, laughed roughly. "The same old Bernhard!" he teased her.

"I'm not!" she defended herself hotly. "But that's the sort of toast that requires a broken glass."

Emily, tomorrow, blushes before breakfast.

FUNDS RECEIVED FOR MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN

School children are bringing in their pennies, nickels and dimes, which are placed in little boxes in various rooms of the Ouachita Parish Grammar school to be devoted to the proposed memorial fountain to the memory of Mrs. Pearl Morgan, teacher who died last summer, and who left an unusually wide circle of friends.

The school children are asked to make their contributions up to March 1, when the money will all be turned in to a central fund. Also the large number of men and women in the city and vicinity who years ago were pupils of Mrs. Morgan are asked to contribute to the fund. It is expected a good sized sum will be raised.

As proposed, the fountain will be erected somewhere on the campus of the Ouachita Parish Grammar school. Mrs. Lewis Slator, teacher of the eighth grade at the parish grammar school, has charge of the funds that are collected at the school. She was for many years a co-worker and close friend of Mrs. Morgan, and is anxious to see a suitable memorial erected.

AT LOCAL THEATERS

AT THE PARAMOUNT—Marking her promotion to the top rank in films with a performance that gets the utmost entertainment value out of a rich romantic comedy role, Ginger Rogers made her debut as a solo star last night in "In Person" at the Paramount theater.

From the pen of Samuel Hopkins Adams, "In Person" concerns an egotistical and temperamental screen star suddenly transformed into a quaking lass when she is mobbed by a crowd of admirers. Donning disguise and seeking a nerve cure, she persuades George Brent, a perfect stranger, to have her as his guest at his mountain lodge. She falls in love with him, but simultaneously reverts to a domineering celebrity.

Her frantic efforts to lure Brent into marriage, while he tries to change her into a normal human being by remaining indifferent, reaches an unexpected climax in an ultra-modern version of "shot-gun" wedding.

Although "In Person" presents Miss Rogers in a dramatic role primarily, it is not without melody and dance. The peppery player exercises her rhythmic talents, known to millions of fans through her ace performance with Fred Astaire, in three Levant-Field melodies, "Out of Sight, Out of Mind," "Got a New Lease on Life" and "Don't Mention Love to Me."

George Brent plays his role to the hilt, giving a convincing characterization as the tamer of the shrew. Alan Mowbray, as a screen leading man, evokes some lusty laughs.

As an added attraction, the Paramount presents 40 minutes of song and dance revue, Mrs. Harry Rice's "Mid-Winter Knick-Knacks," on the stage twice daily.

AT THE CAPITOL—An interesting new team of stars makes his bow to the public on the screen of the Capitol theater today where "The Murder Man" is the feature attraction.

Spencer Tracy and Virginia Bruce are the co-stars—he as a hard-bitten, cynical New York newspaperman, and she as the paper's glib "sister" who can dish out advice to the love-lorn through her columns, but can't control her own heart.

Speed, suspense and mystery of the story only serve to heighten the romance between these two. They vie for acting honors in this stirring Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

"The Murder Man" is powerful entertainment. It deals with the exploits of a star reporter, a crime expert who assists the police in solving a sensational murder mystery—with disastrous results to himself.

Lionel Atwill as a police captain, Harvey Stephens as the suspected murderer and Robert Barrat as the newspaper's managing editor contribute outstanding performances, as do James Stewart, William Collier, Sr., Louise Henry, Fuzzy Knight and others of the capable cast.

"The Murder Man" is a new Harp-Bent production for M-G-M, directed by Tim Whelan from a story by Whelan and Guy Bolton. It is recommended without reservation.

Passage Of Bonus Bill Expected, Foreign Wars Veterans Are Informed

Information from the national headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars that early passage by congress of a bill authorizing full payment of the soldiers' bonus is expected in that quarter, was reported to members of the Rodney J. Hobbs post, of Monroe, and other posts of northeast Louisiana, at a meeting here Thursday night at the local post's headquarters.

Veterans present from the Hannan-Richardson post of Winnboro extended an invitation to all overseas veterans of northeast Louisiana to attend a quail supper at Winnboro on Monday night, January 27.

New members inducted by the local post were Horace Fluker, Theo Keller and J. Tinger Conger.

Veterans present from other posts included Ray B. Griffin, junior department vice-commander, J. W. Westbrook, past commander of the Boone-McDonnell post of Bayou Lafourche, and Wes Taylor, junior vice-commander of the Christian-Phillips post of Rayville.

It was announced at the meeting that the auxiliary of the local post will serve a public spaghetti supper at the post headquarters Saturday night, and that the post is sponsoring a dance to be given there Monday night.

Man With Auto Burning Drives To Fire Station

A fire was brought to firemen of the Central station early Friday morning when R. M. Peek, of Little Rock, Ark., drove up in front of the station in his late model coach, the rear seat and upholstery of which were aflame. Firemen extinguished the fire with hand extinguishers, but the entire seat and upholstery in the rear were destroyed.

It was considered probable that the fire started from a burning cigarette. Thursday night, firemen extinguished a fire which had damaged the residence of Andrew Evans, negro, 1100 Ouchita avenue. The fire was reported caused by carelessness with cigarettes. The home is owned by the People's Homestead and Savings association.

Friday morning firemen made a run to the residence of Leo Poole, negro, 1404 Wood street, where soot in the chimney had caught fire. No damage resulted.

Another run was made by firemen Friday morning when they were called to the residence of Hester Wiggins, negro woman, 108 Eighth street, where a celluloid vase was reported set on fire by rats moving matches about in the vase. Occupants of the home were away and firemen forced entrance, but found that no damage had resulted.

THESE FACTS ABOUT BRAN HAVE BEEN PROVED BY TESTS

Supplies Gently Acting "Bulk" to Aid Regular Habits

Now and then, in talking with your friends, the subject of bran has come up. So that real facts might replace unsupported opinions, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years research in leading nutrition laboratories.

Studies made on a group of healthy women showed that two tablespoonsful of bran daily continued to relieve constipation over a period of months. How different from cathartics—where dosage often must be increased.

Another series of tests on men indicated that, with some people, the "bulk" in bran was much more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Further tests showed that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provided vitamin B and iron as well as "bulk." This "bulk" absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system—the right way to correct constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal, with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. It is a natural laxative food, free of any artificial ingredients. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Constipation due to insufficient "bulk."

BUSINESS STILL SHOWING GAINS

Shakes Off Final Traces Of Inventory And Repair Periods

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Nearly all branches of business have attained a more accelerated pace than was evident a year ago, Dun and Bradstreet said today in its weekly review of trade and business.

"While there was a continuance of the gain in retail sales," the review said, "it was superseded by the surge in wholesale distribution, as buyers assembled spring requirements and released a steady flow of reorders to freshen current stocks."

"Shaking off the final traces of inventory and repair periods, the rising rate of industrial activity spread to a larger number of divisions. Greater uniformity than in nearly a month marked the extensions of the leading industrial indices, with some reaching the best positions since early December."

The vagaries of the weather in many districts accounted for considerable unevenness in retail distribution, the agency said, although for the country as a whole the estimate volume was larger by 4 to 8 per cent.

In New England gains ranged from 3 to 7 per cent; in the middle west sales were 10 to 15 per cent higher, and larger hog receipts helped some parts of the northwest, but the turnover was smaller than in the preceding week. Trade was quieter on the Pacific coast and in some portions of the south.

Assemblage of spring merchandise was the highlights of wholesale markets, the review said. The number of visiting buyers was large, and the volume of orders placed was estimated at 15 to 20 per cent larger than a year ago.

The agency reported unfilled orders for woolen goods totaled about $2,000,000 linear yards at mid-month, a quantity sufficient to keep operations of mills at the current rate for 13 weeks.

RACING CURRENTS MENACE VILLAGES

Swollen Sacramento River
Surges Through
Yielding Levees

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—(P)—

Racing currents of the rain-swollen Sacramento river surged through yielding levees today, menacing villages and farms along a 50-mile front.

The chief threat was at Colusa, where the waters reached near-flood stage early today and threatened to go higher. North of Colusa, the stream broke through levees in two places, flooding several thousand acres of land and threatening the village of Princeton.

Near Red Bluff, the river rose 1.3 feet above flood stage and overflowed into valley ranches.

Waters of the Yuba and Feather rivers, Sacramento tributaries, reached the highest January levels in 20 years.

Southern Pacific main line tracks were imperiled near Colusa. At Lee's station the flood waters were within 14 inches of covering the tracks.

Emergency crews were recruited to protect the roadbed.

The flood followed a pounding six-day storm in the Pacific coast states. A snowslide that crushed a Southern Pacific passenger coach, injuring 13 passengers, was cleared away yesterday.

No alarm was felt at Sacramento, the state capital, although the inflow of the American river raised the level of the Sacramento to 26.5 feet. Flood gates protecting the northern part of the city were closed and traffic restricted.

WILL CELEBRATE BRIDGE OPENING

West Monroe Kiwanis Club Names Committee To Prepare Program

Informal discussion of plans to celebrate the opening of the new traffic bridge across the Ouchita river at Louisville avenue formed an important part of the program at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club of West Monroe Thursday noon. It was decided that a special committee, composed of charter members of the club, should be in charge of the arrangements. The committee is composed of W. R. Hatchell, E. O. Smith, S. H. Humphries, J. L. Warren, H. A. McDonald, Fred Thatcher and T. C. Drew.

Plans for the holding of a ladies' night next Friday at the cafeteria of the Crosey school were formulated, and it is proposed to have a highly interesting meeting at that time, taking the place of the weekly luncheon Thursday noon.

Committees were named who are to serve through the year, announcement being made by George W. Welch, the new president, who presided in his new office for the first time Thursday noon.

There were several musical selections that were highly appreciated.

BUILDING PERMITS

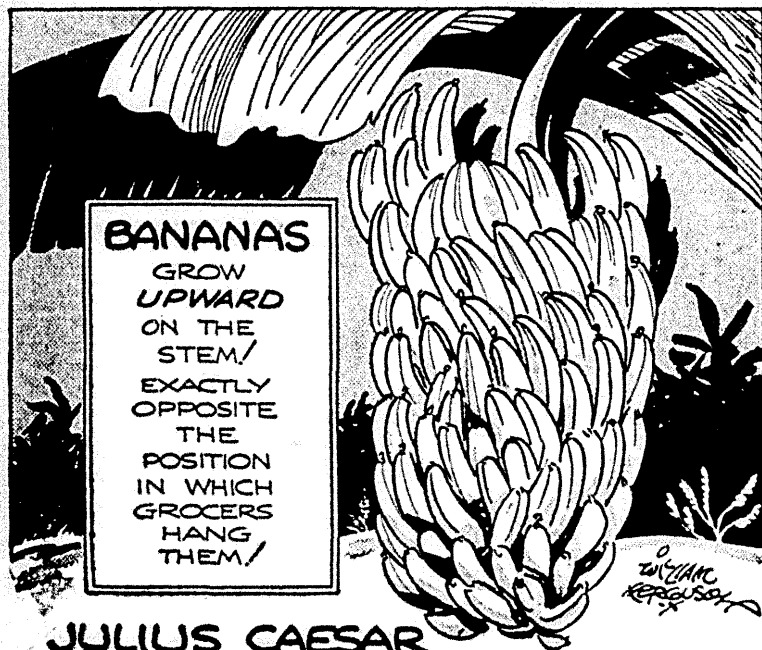

The following building permits were issued Thursday by the city building inspector: H. A. Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 17.—(P)—Cotton futures were holding from 7 to 13 points higher today in late trading on the market as short covering and a little speculative buying appeared.

The main reason for the advance was an unconfirmed report that the poll was now out of the market.

Short covering on news that a farm program had been worked out aided the advance. March reached 11.27 in the afternoon. May sold at 11.00 and October gained 12 points to 10.19.

The volume of business fell off on the advance when the market maintained a steady undertone.

Weekly figures were fair. Spinners taking of 231,000 bales compared with 182,000 a year ago.

Exports of 17,650 bales today brought the weekly total to 126,926 bales.

The steady uptrend continued until trading ceased for the day and active positions ended steady, showing net advances of 12 to 17 points for the day.

Cotton futures closed steady at net advances of 12 to 17 points.

ADULT SCHOOLS ARE IN SESSION

First Week Ends; Classes To Be Continued Indefinitely

The first week of operation for the adult education schools of Ouachita parish ended Friday and will be continued indefinitely as a WPA project. Similar schools are maintained in all of the 14 parishes of the fifth congressional district.

J. L. Heath, Jr., is supervisor of Ouachita parish schools of adult education and is assisted by Miss Nova Weatherly. They maintain headquarters in the old World building on South Grand street.

Thus far a number of teachers are conducting schools at their homes and in churches or other buildings available. They are asking cooperation on the part of the public, especially of those adults who have very little common school education and seek to improve their ability to read, write and solve problems in arithmetic. The following white persons have adult classes formed and in operation in Monroe and vicinity: Clyde Culver, Mrs. Edward Richardson, Pearl N. Williamson, Mrs. John E. Messersmith, Marguerite Kirkpatrick, Mamie Skipper, Kate B. Wilkins, Alice Ratchford, Josie Auld, Evelyn S. Chilton, Lena Rawls, Mrs. Kate B. Perkins, Mrs. F. B. Nealey, Mrs. Lois White and Madge Ratcliff.

Negro teachers are as follows: Alonzo B. Willis, James Washington, Ann Brackenred, Elsie Johnson, Amanda Robinson and Bertha Parker.

Mr. Heath said still other teachers are likely to be added within the next few days.

A nursery school for small children will be operated in the near future, directed by Mrs. Nealey and Mrs. White.

Operation of a craft school at 509 Ouachita street, directed by Mrs. Culver will prove, it is believed, a popular feature, while women will find instruction in sewing in classes conducted by Mrs. Wilkins, Cypress street, West Monroe.

NINE GUILTY IN FRANCE'S GREAT STAVISKY FRAUD

French annals, when she heard the pronouncement of her acquittal.

"I have suffered much, especially during the long months in prison before the trial," she said, "but now I am happy, particularly for my children. Justice has been done me."

Some of the convicted defendants wept at the verdicts returned by the jury after it received the cases yesterday and deliberated 1,955 questions concerning the charges that the defendants aided Stavisky in the swindles.

They will be sentenced later. All twenty defendants employed the same defense plea—misplaced confidence. All, even Stavisky's widow, pictured themselves as innocent victims of the swindler.

Madame Stavisky, mother of two young children who know nothing of the case save that their father is dead, said that after his arrest in 1926, Stavisky promised her he would go "straight," and she believed the hundreds of thousands of francs he showed on her were the profits of legitimate financial operations.

The others, accused of helping Stavisky to defraud municipal pawn shops and mulet investors of $10,000,000 through various fraudulent schemes in the five years from 1929 to 1933, before his exposure and death, also said they respected the swindler as a financial genius and friend of high officials.

Those Freed Named

Those acquitted with Madame Stavisky were:

Emile Antoine Digoin, former inspector in the French detective service.

Emile Farrault, appraiser at the Orleans credit municipal, where Stavisky first attempted frauds.

Albert DuBarry, newspaper editor.

Georges Gaudier, lawyer.

Pierre Guibon-Ribaud, lawyer.

Francois Deane, journalist.

Paul Levy, editor of a weekly newspaper.

Henri De Pardon, office employee.

Gilbert P. Romagnino, secretary of a Stavisky company.

Camille Aymard, a newspaperman.

Except for Bonnaire, Gaudier, Darius, Levy, De Pardon, Hatot and Aymard, all have been in jail since their arrest early in 1934.

Although the cabinet fell, rioting over the exposed frauds cost more than a score of lives, and accusations were made in parliament, because of Stavisky's apparent immunity to prosecution, that those tried were mostly minor figures.

'JAFSIE' REACHES CRISTOBAL, C. Z.

Key Figure In Kidnaping Doubtful Whether He Will Return

CRISTOBAL, C. Z., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Dr. John F. "Jafsie" Condon, key figure in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, arrived from the United States today aboard the liner Santa Rita and said: "I do not know whether I am returning."

"That might depend on any authority," the elderly former schoolmaster added.

He did not explain what he meant by "authority."

Condon, who identified Bruno Richard Hauptmann as the man to whom he paid the $50,000 Lindbergh baby ransom, left New York last week with his daughter, Mrs. Myra Hacker, for a vacation cruise.

Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey, who yesterday granted Hauptmann a 30-day reprieve from execution, has expressed a desire to interrogate "Jafsie" on purported differences in his testimony at Hauptmann's trial and in magazine articles which Condon has written.

Dr. Condon, who breakfasted aboard the ship and read accounts of the Hauptmann reprieve, said he had "no comment whatever on the case."

"I came for a rest and I am taking it. I have no comment to make whatever."

Mrs. Hacker said: "We have not decided whether we will stay in Panama or go further south."

Previously the ship's purser had said he understood the Condons would stay in Panama for a time.

"Jafsie" was in the best of humor as he handled remarks with a dozen reporters for twenty minutes.

Then he and Mrs. Hacker left the ship for a sight-seeing tour by automobile.

Mrs. Hacker said that if the heat were not too severe "we will make the transit of the canal aboard ship."

announcement at 7:00 a.m., (2:00 a.m., eastern standard time):

"Mr. Kipling's condition is still very critical."

The 70-year-old writer's wife, the former Caroline Balestier of New York, and their daughter drove soon after midnight, through the snow falling quietly over London, to the hospital in the central district of the city, known as "Old Soho."

They were called to the sickroom at Kipling's own wish. They sat at his bedside, and although the patient was completely exhausted and unable to speak, he recognized them at first.

JIM GORREY RECOVERED QUICKLY FROM HIS AMAZEMENT THAT THE "WILD MAN" SPOKE ENGLISH. "JUST HAVING SOME FUN SHOOTING THOSE BEASTS."

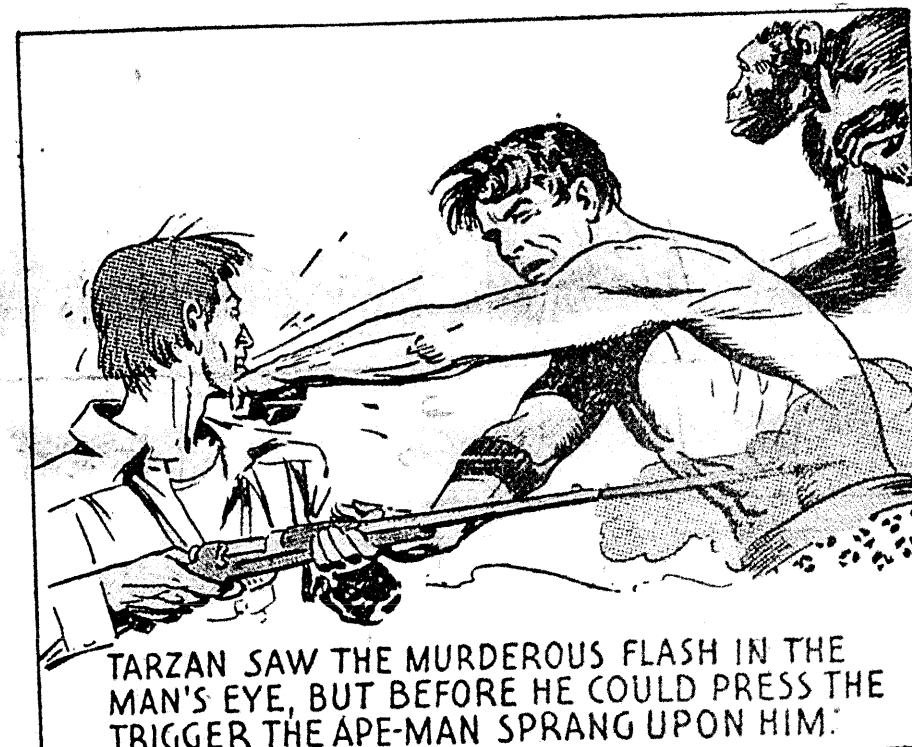

"THIS IS THEIR COUNTRY," THE APE-MAN GROWLED. "YOU ARE THE INVADER. YOU ARE THE BEAST. GO!"

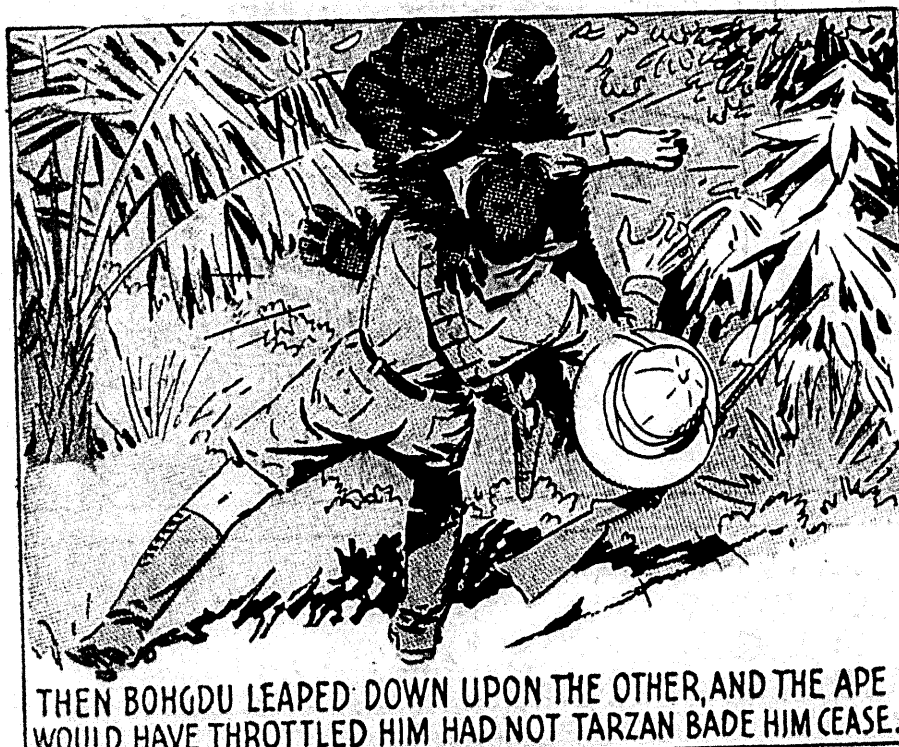

"YOU TALK MIGHTY BIG FOR A NAKED SAVAGE," THE MAN EXCLAIMED. "THERE'S NO LAW TO STOP ME GOING WHERE I PLEASE."

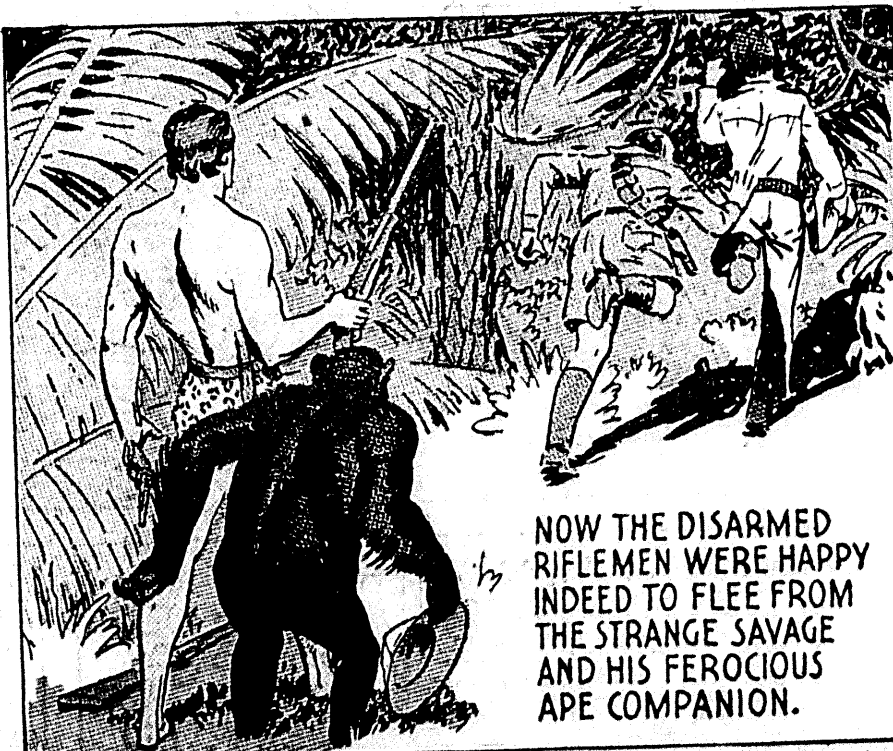

"IN THE JUNGLE, I AM THE LAW," TARZAN DECLARED. "I AM SOVEREIGN HERE OVER MAN AND BEAST. AND I SAY--GO!"

TARZAN SAW THE MURDEROUS FLASH IN THE MAN'S EYE, BUT BEFORE HE COULD PRESS THE TRIGGER THE APE-MAN SPRANG UPON HIM.

THEN BOHGDU LEAPED DOWN UPON THE OTHER, AND THE APE WOULD HAVE THROTTLED HIM HAD NOT TARZAN BADE HIM CEASE.

NOW THE DISARMED RIFLEMEN WERE HAPPY INDEED TO FLEE FROM THE STRANGE SAVAGE AND HIS FEROCIOUS APE COMPANION.

"I GO BACK TO FIGHT KON-GAH," SAID THE JUNGLE LORD. "I WILL NOT KILL HIM, BUT I WILL SHOW HIM TARZAN IS MASTER!"

MEANWHILE KON-GAH PUZZLED OVER THE APE JIM GORREY HAD SHOT. "TARZAN KILLED HIM," HE GROWLED FINALLY. "MEN-THINGS KNOW MANY WAYS TO KILL. I KILL TARZAN!"

SOON THE WHITE FUGITIVES SLACKENED THEIR PACE. "THIS LOONY WILD MAN MAY SPOIL OUR PLANS," PUFFED RUFUS FLINT.

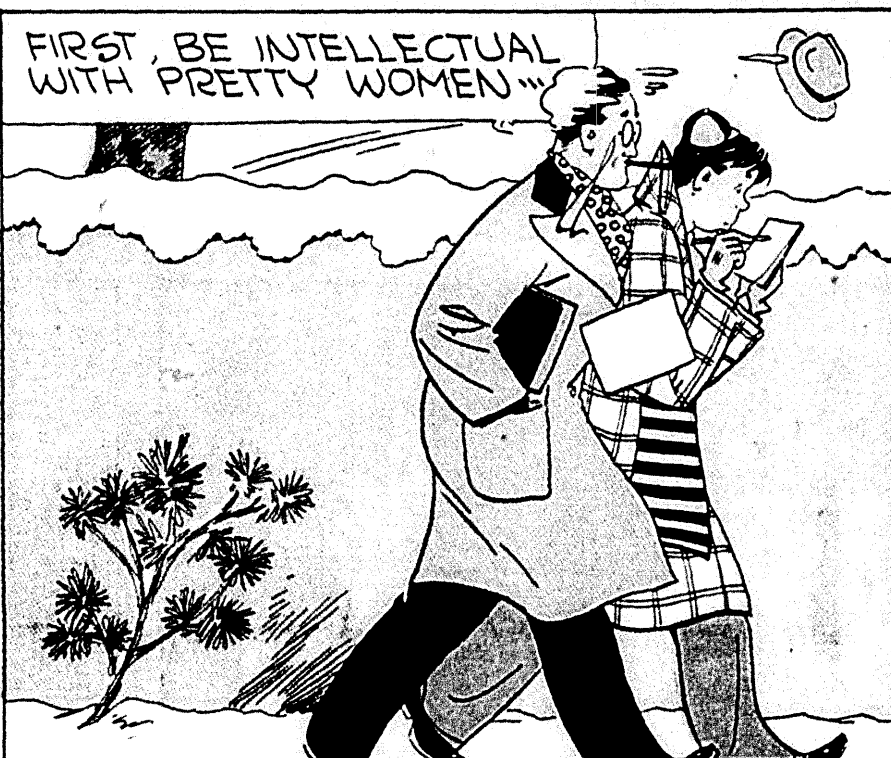

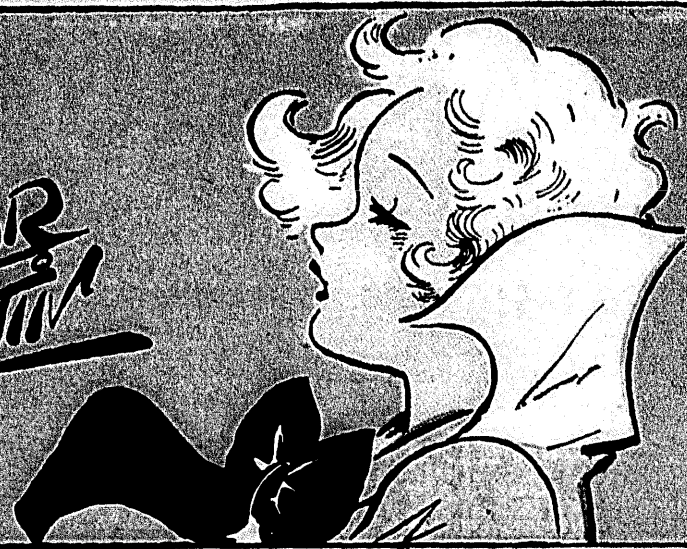

"DON'T WORRY!" THE OTHER SNARLED. "I'LL GATHER MY BLACK SOLDIERS AND HUNT HIM DOWN LIKE THE BEAST THAT HE IS!"
